There's even some good humor in here .It's hilarious. He gives me two events to choose from. Don't play them. Don't watch them. So hiking seems like the better choice of the two. The real me doesn't. The real me not so sure. Coach Krump explains how to get the medal. (and this now turns into an episode of The Walking Dead. If we don't we get disqualified. We do get a survival kit. We have to pair up. There are two routes one leads over a mountain. The other lead's around a river. I'll take the river. Paperback I read this a long time ago. It's one of those go to page 12 if you want to. Or go to page 72 if you want to. I would spend all day reading it. Seru dan mengingatkan masa kecil dulu. So many good endings. Fun creepy and oh so memorable. Paperback R.l. Camping and Goosebumps go hand in hand. I give it a 3.5 out of five. This is my first decimal review . It was very fun and got me into that spooky spirit. Can't wait to read some more of them. The story me (and the real me) are BORED already. (Plus the real me isn't all that hot on animals). But then she sees a zombie. (But is it really a zombie). Book me thinks it's another hiker. I decide to continue to keep walking. Then we disappear also and fall down down down. We are now in a pit. Full of zombies. As we turn to leave a figure blocks our path. It's the Cemetery Man. Turns out the Zombies are his and it's a trap. He opens the cage. Somehow but the athletic competitions are very weird. L.R. L. His other Robert Lawrence Stine known as R. L.R. L.
