

Kill Your Darlings, January 2013 By Rebecca Starford EDITORIAL Rebecca Starford
COMMENTARY Jill Jolliffe 'Unquiet Graves: Returning to East Timor' Gabrielle Carey 'Randolph Stow:
An Ambivalent Australian' Robbie Arnott 'Into the Crater: Public Nudity on a Japanese Volcano' Amy
Espeseth 'Staying Away: A Memoir of Wisconsin' Lee Kofman 'Of Monsters and Monogamists: In Search of Love' Paul Humphries 'Sampling Steinbeck: A Re-encounter with The Log from the Sea of Cortez' Sheila Pham 'Flags of My Father: The Question of National Identity' FICTION Patrick
Allington 'At Rothko' Helen Dinmore 'An Illusion Caused by the World Spinning Around'
INTERVIEW Kill Your Darlings in conversation with David Vann REVIEWSCaroline Hamilton 'We Are
The World: The Dave Eggers Phenomenon' Kill Your Darlings.

Favourite: Helen Dinmore's story 'An illusion caused by the world spinning around'. Historical Fiction Rebecca Starford is publishing director of Kill Your Darlings magazine and author of acclaimed memoir Bad Behaviour: A Memoir of Bullying and Boarding School January 2013.

:

Which is currently in development with Matchbox Pictures for adaptation into a TV series. She lives in Brisbane with her partner and son. Though lack of resolution frustrated. Historical Fiction Do I love this journal? Yes I do