

The Hundred Years' War By Ephraim Emerton

The hundred years war bbc bitesize

The Hundred Years' War was a series of conflicts waged from 1337 to 1453 by the House of Plantagenet rulers of the Kingdom of England against the French House of Valois over the right to rule the Kingdom of France. The hundred years war led to an increase in It was one of the most notable conflicts of the Middle Ages in which five generations of kings from two rival dynasties fought for the throne of the largest kingdom in Western Europe: How did the hundred years' war start The war marked both the height of chivalry and its subsequent decline and the development of strong national identities in both countries. The hundred years war books The Hundred Years' War

Ephraim Emerton was an American educator author translator and historian prominent in his field of European medieval history. Each side drew many allies into the war..