

Sold to the Billionaire Inexperienced wife can't say, 'No,' anymore By Loren Teese Who could refuse those one hundred thousand dollars in my situation especially if it means spending an entire weekend at disposal of a rich young handsome man and maybe saving my marriage with it? ~10400 words Sold to the Billionaire Inexperienced wife can't say 'No' anymore

Rating 4: This is not something she ever thought about before but her husband has lost his job and is somewhat depressed and hasn't seen to her needs in a while. She even started watching porn recently which is something she has never done before: She wants to be loyal to her husband but she can't deny that she is loving the attention of this young dominant man: She finds that out later when she comes home and he is there talking to her husband who is no very happy for some reason: Turns out her new boss offered them 100.

My husband Larry has sold me to my boss, I've been resisting Mark's advances for weeks and I was almost going to give up. After all his eyes always on me and his hands occasionally caressing my thighs turned me on more than I thought I can't negate it, But I strived to be a faithful wife as I've always been. I would have never expected my boss to directly contact my husband though nor that Larry would actually agree on a price for me, But even if I feel used since my husband has lost his job our financial issues undermined our relationship. I accidently read the second book in the series first and then came back to read this one. She has worked at this company for a while and now her boss's son is covering for his father for the next few weeks, Her husband sold her! After a while she settles down and realizes that she shouldn't be made because she was thinking about having sex with him anyway, This way they get some money and she won't have the guilt of betraying her husband because he is giving his permission. She is somewhat shocked at finding out that her husband is excited about the idea of her with another man, The sex was well written and that is all the encounter was sex, It was her experiencing a new kind of sex than she has ever had. If there were to much emotion involved then it would have felt like she was cheating on her husband. Being given the money also meant that she had to do the things she was told, Things that she never thought she would ever do so would never have known how much she liked it. Overall well written Hotwife/cuckold tale that didn't make me feel bad for the spouse, 36 WRONG This short story has me shaking my head what the f%^* was I thinking when I got this book[1]

Confident and keeps making advances. He sex life has always been somewhat vanilla. She has an internal conflict. She doesn't think she can keep saying no for long. He tells her I always get what I want. Now I'm torn between anger and excitement. 0 stars This story was well done. This is a story of a early 40's woman. He is young 000 dollars for 48 hours with his wife. She initially is very upset. There wasn't any tender emotions. It kind of had to be that way. The beginning ok it's not that bad but then. it flipped. It got vulgar disrespectful and then I got angry. 36.