

Civilian Conservation Corps Enrollees in Wyoming Camps Including More Than 7,400 Names from Wyoming newspapers, CCC Camp Newspapers, Annuals and Photographs By Robert W. Audretsch

From 1987 to 2009 Bob was: a volunteer ranger at Chaco Culture National Historical Park; park ranger at Independence National Historical Park and Grand Canyon National Park (1990 2009). From 1987 to 2009 Bob was: a volunteer ranger at Chaco Culture National Historical Park; park ranger at Independence National Historical Park and Grand Canyon National Park (1990 2009). He is the author of the popular Grand Canyon's Phantom Ranch (Images of America) and published his most two most recent books The Civilian Conservation Corps in Arizona (Images of America) and Selected Grand Canyon Area Hiking Routes Including the Little Colorado River and Great Thumb in 2014. {site_link} {site_link} The Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) put nearly three million unemployed young men to work doing conservation and recreation work on public and some private lands from 1933 to 1942. He is author of a detailed study of the CCC in northern Arizona (We Still Walk in Their The CCC in Northern Arizona 1933-1942); a detailed two volume study of the CCC in Colorado (The Civilian Conservation Corps in Colorado 1933-1942) and a detailed study of the CCC at Grand Canyon National Park (Shaping the Park and Saving the The CCC at Grand Canyon 1933-1942). held professional library positions in Michigan Ohio and Colorado from 1970 to 1987. He was editor The Salem Ohio 1850 Women's Rights Convention Proceedings book reprint 1976: In 1995 he along with Gary Ladd was awarded "Best Story of the Year" by Arizona Highways for the article "Bushwacking to Cheyava Falls: "While working at the park Bob contributed frequent writing assignments for the National Park Service such as site bulletins and brochures. held professional library positions in Michigan Ohio and Colorado from 1970 to 1987. He was editor The Salem Ohio 1850 Women's Rights Convention Proceedings book reprint 1976, In 1995 he along with Gary Ladd was awarded "Best Story of the Year" by Arizona Highways for the article "Bushwacking to Cheyava Falls: "While working at the park Bob contributed frequent writing assignments for the National Park Service such as site bulletins and brochures: He was team leader researcher and writer for the 2008 multi media exhibit "It Saved My Life; The Civilian Conservation Corps at Grand Canyon 1933 1942: " In 2008 he received the park service "Interpreter of the Year" Peer Nominated Award: He authored the Foreword to With Picks Shovels Hope: The CCC and Its Legacy on the Colorado Plateau by Wayne K, Bob published the monograph Shaping the Park and Saving the Boys: The Civilian Conservation Corps at Grand Canyon 1933 1942 (Dog Ear Publishing 2011). His research has taken him frequently to archives in California Arizona Colorado Maryland and the District of Columbia, Across the state an additional 36110 men served as camp leaders and enrollees from other states. "Bob" Audretsch has published more than a dozen books and journal articles about the CCC, This book is his eighth book of enrollee names intended for family history researchers. Civilian Conservation Corps Enrollees in Wyoming Camps Including More Than 7400 Names from Wyoming newspapers CCC Camp Newspapers Annuals and Photographs.

[1]

Robert W. "Bob" Audretsch B.A. M.S.L.S. He has lifelong interests in nature history and writing. He Robert W. "Bob" Audretsch B.A. M.S.L.S. He has lifelong interests in nature history and writing.

Hinton and Elizabeth Green in 2008. Enrollees from Wyoming totaled 10299. Robert W